

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6, 1744.

Since our last arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

Moscow, May 15.

THE Negotiations that are carried on here are undoubtedly of very great Importance; but they are managed with such extraordinary Secrecy, that it is thought impossible to learn any thing of them with Certainty. The Marquis de la Chetardie is as much at Court, and as well received, as any of Foreign Ministers; enters into all the Diversions, but does not seem to apply himself much to Business; which we attribute to his being sensible, that the Interest of Court declines here; and others, to the secret Conferences he has with a certain Minister every Evening. There never was any Thing more Magnificent, than the manner in which her Imperial Majesty's Accession was celebrated. The British Ambassador, Lord Tyraway, arrived here on the 11th, had a Conference the next Day, which lasted for several Hours, with the principal Ministers, and he is actually preparing for his publick Audience, which he will receive in a few Days.

Warsaw, May 20. The Dispute that has subsisted so long between the Family of Prince Radzivil, and the Elector Palatine, is amicably determined; and it is thought, that the other Quarrels among the Nobility will very soon be terminated in the same Manner. His Majesty is expected here on the first of this Month, and magnificent Preparations are making for his Reception; but all the great Lords of the Kingdom proposing to go to this Capital, in order to pay their Duty to his Majesty. They talk of a Body of Russian Troops that will march thro' this Kingdom into Germany, but the reasons assigned for their March are very different, and before we very much doubt whether any such Troops will really march or not.

Rome, May 23. The great Detachment of Troops, which the Duke D'Arifco advanced as far as Monte Rotondo, retired again the next Day, in order to join the main Army. The Day before Yesterday the whole Austrian Army assembled near Monte Rotondo, where Prince Lobkowitz is at present in Person. He gives out, that he still persists in his Design of reducing the Kingdom of Naples this Campaign; but there are People who do not give implicitly into the Opinion, that the General speaks his real Sentiments: If he does, he certainly meet with a good many Obstacles, since the King of the Two Sicilies is at the Head of a very powerful Army, consisting of no less than 43,000 Men, posted on the Frontiers to receive them; nay, we have Moment Intelligence, that his Majesty is advanced Agoni, where he has fixed his Head Quarters, and here he is determined to wait for his Enemies. Since the Arrival of this News, there are great Wagers laid, that Prince Lobkowitz will retire; and indeed a Circumstance has happened lately that seems to countenance this Notion, two of his Purveyors being sent Yesterday to Tuscany. A Rumour has prevailed within these few Days in the Austrian Camp, that their Expedition depends on the Answer that shall be returned by Admiral Boscawen to the Demand made by his Highness, that he should send a strong Detachment from his Squadron, to make a Diversion on the Coast of Naples, in case he should find it no longer necessary to wait upon the Toulon

Naples, May 19. There has been lately published here a simple Relation of the Advantages gained by the late Don Philip and the Prince of Conti, over the Troops of the King of Sardinia in the County of Nice. We have likewise an Account from the Royal Army, that the Duke D'Arifco, at the Head of a numerous Detachment, had surprized a Body of Hussars at Tivoli, and sent them to the Routs, and forced them to repass the River, and to break down the famous Ponte Molle between them. Our Cardinal Archbishop has ordered publick Prayers to be made for the Safety of the King's Person, and the Prosperity of his Arms, during this Campaign. The Nobility have not only remitted to his Majesty 600,000 Ducats, but have likewise given him the strongest Assurances, that they will send him Speedily much more considerable Supply. All the Maritime Places in this Kingdom are thoroughly fortified, and remarkably well provided with Ammunition and Provisions; neither is there any Thing like Tumults, or Insurrections, in any Part of his Majesty's Dominions.

Gènes, May 23. We learn by a Pink that arrived here, in six Days from Marseilles, that, at their Departure from that Port, there were six Gallies ready to put to Sea. When they were in the Height of Toulon, they saw the French Squadron in the Road, ready to come out. According to fresh Advices from Barcelona several Bodies of Infantry were in full March from thence, for the combined Army in the County of Nice, so that they may be soon expected there. Our last Letters from that Army, dated the 17th Instant, acquaint us, that after the taking of Dolacqua, the combined Army had made themselves Masters of Breglio and Monastero, from whence they were marched towards Savouges; out of which Place the Count de la Rocca was retired with nine Battalions to Tende, where the Count de Courbon was come on purpose to relieve them, M. de la Rocca being taken exceedingly ill. The Allies think it possible to penetrate towards Coni, and so to dispose of their Troops afterwards as to cut off all Communication between the Pass of Tende and Piedmont; in short the common Opinion here is, that the combined Forces will make their Way into Italy by the first of July, but perhaps our Notions may be too favourable.

Vienna, May 30. Last Saturday there arrived here a Courier, with very important Dispatches from the Duke of Aremberg. The same Day an Officer arrived from Bavaria with Advice, that the Inhabitants of the City of Rain have risen up in Arms, and killed some of the Regiment quarter'd in that City. A Camp will be speedily form'd of 20,000 Men between Munich and Rain, and 10,000 more are shortly to march into Bavaria, out of Hungary. A Captain, in foreign Service, was arrested here not long ago, for endeavouring to recruit privately; but he was discharged within these few Days, and had Warning given him, at the same time, not to be found a second time in any Part of her Majesty's Hereditary Dominions, on pain of being hanged up, without further Ceremony. Here is a Report, that her Majesty has consented to the March of 25,000 Men, from the Rhine into the Low-Countries; in consideration of which, the Subsidies granted to the Queen, our Sovereign, by the Maritime Powers, are to be considerably increased.

Ratisbon, June 4. The Battalion of Wormbrand, which was detached for the City of Straubingen, where it was joined by the rest of the Regiment, entered that Place on Friday last under Arms. This Corps was no sooner got into the City, than the Gates were immediately shut, and such Officers and Soldiers as had served in the Imperial Troops, to the Number of 600, were immediately arrested, and had their Choice given them of this Alternative, either to enter into her Majesty's Troops, or to be sent Prisoners into Hungary. It is said, that the same Method will be taken throughout Bavaria, with all such as have been in the Imperial Service. It is reported, that 6000 Men will speedily march from this Electorate into Italy, in order to reinforce the King of Sardinia, without lessening the Forces of Prince Lobkowitz. An Officer, who arrived lately from Frankfurt, has published here, with the strongest Assurances of its being a Matter of Fact, a Piece of News that we cannot understand, viz. That a Treaty of Neutrality is concluded between his Imperial Majesty and the Queen of Hungary, like that which was signed last Year; and that this Treaty was negotiated by Baron Palm with the Emperor himself; and that the Field Marshals Seckendorff and Traun were to meet shortly, and sign it publicly.

Hague, June 12. According to our best and freshest Advices, Prince Charles camped on the 6th Instant at Wilsch near Heidelberg, and was preparing to pass the Neckar the second Time at Ladenburg. Some Blows have been exchanged between his Highness's Hussars and those of Count Seckendorff, and each Side represents the other as having been the Aggressors, and itself as having had the Advantage.

L O N D O N.

They write from Genoa, that Admiral Matthews before he departed the second time from Vado, detach'd eight Men of War for the Coast of Naples.

They write from the Hague, that the Count de Walsenar is hourly expected there from the French Camp; and that his Arrival will determine the great Question whether the War shall become general or not.

There has been lately published at Paris a Letter, said to be written by his Prussian Majesty to the Lord Hyndford; which from the Language in which it is conceived, appears to be a Contrivance of that Court, to keep up its Credit with the People.

The Union, Clincart, from Amsterdam for London, is carried into Dunkirk.

Capt. James Lamb, of Cork, writes from Granville, in Lower Normandy, the 30th of May, that he was taken by four French Ships of Force, bound from that Port to Newfoundland, the 6th of that Month, in the Latitude 51. 250 Leagues West of Cape Fear. One of whom of 14 Guns, and 88 Men, took out five of his Men, and putting seven French in their Room, sent them with him and his Ship to Granville.

London, June 5, 1744

WHEREAS the several Regiments of Foot serving in South Britain, Minorca, Gibraltar, and the West-Indies, as likewise the Marines, are now all complete, or very near completed, and the commanding Officers of the Regiments in England having represented, that the Prest-Men take every Opportunity of deserting, and that Numbers of them have already deserted from those Corps, the Field Marshal Earl of Stair, Commander in Chief of His Majesty's Forces in South Britain, finds it absolutely necessary, for His Majesty's Service, to direct the Officers employed in raising Recruits for the Regiments in England, to receive no more Prest-Men after the 11th Day of this present Month of June, till further Orders, of which publick Notice will be given in the Gazette, and other printed Papers.

The Recruiting Officers are nevertheless to continue to enlist all Volunteers at the Drum Head that offer themselves, and that are fit for His Majesty's Service, in their respective Regiments.

This Order is thus publickly made known for the Information of the Commissioners, and others, appointed for putting in Execution the Act now in Force for the Speedy and Effectual Recruiting His Majesty's Land Forces and Marines.

By Command of the Field Marshal
Earl of STAIR,
C. Ellifson, Dep. Adjutant General.
